Heartworm & Tick test normal price $38.00 Discounted to $25.00 for March blood draw is $12.00

The Fact Is...

Heartworm medications don't kill adult heartworms—they kill larval heartworms before they develop into adults. If you miss a dose, your pet is at risk for heartworm disease.

Be sure to set reminders to give your pet their monthly heartworm prevention!

This is what a heart with heartworm looks like.

Call today to make an appointment to get your dog's heartworm test scheduled and remember to start their heartworm prevention as soon as the mosquitos come out. .

Dr. Kim built the Animal Hospital from the ground up to suit the needs of a veterinary facility. It was laid out for the convenience of our clients and for the care of our animals. We have a reception and waiting area in the front, which also houses our retail area for easy pick-up of pet products and supplies. For the medical needs of the pets we have:

- Two large exam rooms
- A multi-purpose treatment room, this contains our lab, the dental treatment area, an additional exam table and kennel facilities for hospitalized pets.
- An operating room with a heated surgery table and anesthesia equipment and patient monitoring system.
- An x-ray room with a digital x-ray unit.
- Boarding: Our boarding facility houses 16 individual 8x4 Kennels. We offer fresh food and water twice a day, twice daily walks and a blanket for comfort. We also are well trained in the care of pets who require extra care (ex: insulin for diabetes, heart medications, etc.).
- Therapeutic Laser Treatment: This is a cold laser therapy machine. It offers relief from swelling and pain for patients' post-surgery by promoting faster healing. Other therapies the laser provides for are wounds, arthritis, back injuries, chronic ear infections and more.
- In-house Diagnostics: In our clinic we do bloodwork on our pets to allow us an internal exam to check their organ function (liver disease, kidney disease, pancreatitis, etc.), it allows us to catch early stages of diabetes, thyroid disease and possible infections.

Grooming: We offer full service grooming
